

Justice for All

Matthew Taranto

J. Netterfield & L. Stericker

There are times when you'll feel lone- ly and de- fea- ted, and throughout some trials you'll on- ly be mis- trea- ted. Yes, we both share that rap- port, but in the midst of court- room war, I re- mem- ber the i- deals I'm figh- ting for.

I fight for truth. I fight for jus- tice. I fight for ev- ery- one to have a fair chance, and when faced with tri- bul- at- ion, I think of my own in- spir- at- ion. He taught me to al- ways hold my stance. I fight for men. I fight for wo- men. I fight for a- ny- one who aims to do what's right so I chose this occ- u- pat- ion, a ded-ica- tion to sal- va- tion. For so- ci- et- y, I fight. There are peo- ple in this world who'll try to break you. They frame oth- ers for their vi- ces just to mask the truth and that's when we ar- ise. Some a- ttor- neys are dis- honest, they'll do peace. We fight for or- der. We fight with ev- id- ence, in- tell- igence, and
